

Institutional Repository of Moldova State University (IR-MSU) represents an electronic archive that accumulates, deposits and distributes the research of the University's academic community. It also provides a sustainable, permanent and reliable access to the mentioned resources.

Aims:

- to provide a way of centralized and long-term storage of full-text documents in electronic format
- to help increase the citation number of publications of MSU researchers
- to help promote the image and increase the visibility of MSU by presenting the University's own scientific production in the global network
- to support the research and training process within the institution.

